

To whom it may concern,

In November 2015 we purchased a townhouse at 750 N P Street in Washougal, WA, that Branden Edmiston built. We enjoyed his flexibility in considering options and upgrades while under construction. He was always quick to respond on what could and could not be accomplished and at what price. The townhouse is well designed and is well constructed. Care for quality is evident throughout the house.

Unfortunately due to permit and inspection delays we took occupancy later than what was expected. However, when it came time for occupancy Branden and crew went out of their way to assist in the move in every way possible (even to the point of helping me install my large screen TV). When we pointed out small issues, like the position of the washer and dryer needing to be switched, though this was no easy task, Branden personally took care of the problem.

We are pleased with our purchase and are very pleased with the service Branden provided us. Branden is an affable man of integrity and initiative. We would highly recommend him as a builder and endorse new projects he might be undertaking.

Sincerely,

Terri and Alan Schell
